

As Seen In...

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

Luxury Builder Earns High Honor

Arteva Regency of Bloomfield Township recently became the first luxury custom home builder in the nation to be honored with a Star Diamond Award from the American Academy of Hospitality Sciences.

The award is a prestigious emblem of achievement and quality and recognizes the highest standards of excellence in luxury brands.

In celebration of the honor, a VIP reception was held at The Penthouse at the Old Fishing Lodge in Bay Harbor, MI. The award was presented by Joe Cinque, president and CEO of the American Academy of Hospitality Sciences, along with board member, Robert DiPilla.

Donald Trump, another winner and current trustee of the AAHS and president and CEO of The Trump Organization, has also received the recognition for various properties including the Trump International Hotel Residential Tower properties in Chicago and New York.

The setting of the award celebration was a marvel in its own right. Arteva recently removed the entire roof system of the Old Fishing Lodge in Bay Harbor, and capped the building with a fifth floor to create a new two-story penthouse with towering views over Bay Harbor and Lake Michigan.

The intricate 18-month process required retrofitting all the existing retail space and residences below with new structural steel supports.

To learn more about the Arteva Regency Bespoke Edition visit ArtevaRegency.com.

Arteva's intricate 18-month construction project at Bay Harbor, Michigan, required retrofitting all the existing retail space and condominiums below with the structural steel supports to accommodate the new two-story penthouse residence.